

Return to Teaching in Subject Shortage Area Regional Superintendent Certification

Governor Rauner signed Public Act 100-0743 on August 10, 2018. The one-year program allows a TRS retiree to return to work without post-retirement limitations in a designated subject shortage area. The regional superintendent must designate the employment to be in a subject shortage area in order for a retiree to be able to return to work without limitation. The program expires on June 30, 2019.

The regional superintendent will certify the district's compliance on this form and submit it to TRS. The retiree returning to work must be in a subject shortage area and the school district must comply with the program participation requirements. The requirements are as follows:

- Any qualified teacher who has been honorably dismissed within the calendar year preceding the school term in which employment is sought must be offered the position before a retiree can be hired.
- For a period of at least 90 days during the six months before the beginning of either the fall or the spring term that the employer seeks to hire a retired teacher, the school district must continually
 - advertise its vacancies in the subject shortage area in a newspaper of general circulation in the area in which the school is located,
 - advertise in employment bulletins published by college and university placement offices located near the school, and
 - search for teachers legally qualified to fill those vacancies through the Illinois Education Job Bank.
- If the vacancies are not filled after complying with these requirements, the school district must submit documentation of their compliance with the statute to the regional superintendent in order to participate in the program.
